

Trading Carbon Credits

Richer nations and companies currently meet some of their renewable commitments by paying for carbon credits to other companies & poorer countries who promise to do things like grow trees