

Agricultural solutions

Animals that are produced for meat require large areas of lands for crops to feed them. Domesticated animals also emit large amounts of methane, which is a fossil fuel.